

Have you or someone close to you experienced cancer?

Do you live in Mid Wales?

Would you like to be part of a project aimed at improving the experiences of people living with cancer?

- Rural Health and Care Wales is undertaking a project that will investigate the experiences of people living in rural areas of Wales who have had, or are living with, cancer, comparing these to the experiences of cancer patients living in more urban areas of Wales
- If you live in Mid Wales, have or have had cancer, care for or support someone with cancer, are part of a service helping people with cancer or work as a healthcare professional with cancer patients, I would love to hear from you
- I am undertaking one-to-one interviews, focus group discussions and case studies in north Powys, Ceredigion and south Gwynedd to gather lived experiences and stories
- We will use the information we gather to help us make recommendations on what could and should be in place to improve the experiences of people living with cancer in rural Wales. The hope will be that this helps people to have better outcomes from their care
- Please help us improve the experiences of cancer patients living in rural Wales by getting involved – we look forward to hearing from you!

If you are interested in taking part, or would like to find out more, please contact:

Becky Gardner (Macmillan Rural Cancer Experience Researcher)

Rebecca.gardner2@wales.nhs.uk

Tel: 07450 727567

www.ruralhealthandcare.wales